Kirk Ludwig presents a philosophical account of institutional action, such as action by corporations and nation states, arguing that it can be understood exhaustively in terms of the agency of individuals and concepts constructed out of materials that are already at play in our understanding of individual action. He thus argues for a strong form of methodological individualism. The book provides a new account of the logical form of grammatically singular group action sentences (e.g. 'Company laid off 10,000 workers'), and features new analyses of the concepts of a constitutive rule, status function, status role, collective acceptance, and proxy agency. He also provides an analysis of the structure of corporate action, including the status of corporations as legal persons, and of the nature of state action in relation to its citizens. This is the companion volume to From Individual to Plural Agency (OUP 2016), extending the multiple-agents account of collective action set out in the earlier volume. The innovative and unique feature of this book is that it does not contain theoretical concept that cannot be translated into practice. This second volume expands the analysis of the strategic decisions, emphasizing the importance of a sustainable competitive advantage, and proposing an integrated conceptual and operational framework (the "Strateco Dashboard"), that complements and significantly improves the recent and well-known Blue Ocean approach to strategy development. Finally, it addresses the measurement of the performance of strategy in terms of value creation, highlighting differences and similarities, as well as strengths and weaknesses, of the main metrics. Furthermore, it proposes a comprehensive and operational framework for the assessment of the financial feasibility of strategy, through the measurement of the impact of the planned strategic moves on financial needs and the evaluation of their financial sustainability. Through extended portraits of AP foreign correspondents, this book documents the practices and constraints shaping international news since World War II. The Maths in Action series of books for S1 and S2 provides a differentiated, systematic course in line with 5-14 guidelines. It caters for mixed ability classes with exercises graded at three different levels and has revision exercises at the end of each chapter. Extra question books for students who need more help and further question books for students progressing quickly are available. It is written for the 5-14 guidelines in Scotland, and referenced to all other UK syllabuses. Offers a view of armored warfare in World War II from the perspective of the Soviet soldiers who went to battle in one of the most effective tanks of the war, the T-34.
